

The Southwest Corridor Light Rail Project is seeking feedback on a Draft Conceptual Design Report. The report highlights project principles, goals and objectives, and illustrates preliminary design features of the 13 light rail stations and related improvements on the 11-mile route between Downtown Portland and Bridgeport Village in Tualatin.

The public is invited to explore the report and provide feedback through March 27 to help inform a final report in mid-2020. Public feedback will help identify challenges and guide ongoing design efforts in the coming years.
